

Te Timatanga Hou New Beginnings

Alternative Education National Forum
Setting in place Critical Conversations towards Change within Alternative Education

Tuesday 11 September: (10am)

The Alternative Education National Body invites AE Providers, Pedagogical Teachers, AE Tutors and AE Co-ordinators to have a robust conversation to consider what SHOULD BE the new beginnings for the Alternative Education Sector.

Have your say in shaping the future!

Key questions will be workshopped with time allocated to presenters and who will add to the conversations taking place.

Day one will set the foundations to strengthen the conversations with the wider Education Sector on Wednesday.

Alternative Education National Body will finish the day with a presentation. Then, AE National Body AGM with drinks and nibbles.

Day will finish with a AE National Forum Dinner 7.00pm

Wednesday 12 September (9.30am)

The MoE with the Alternative Education National Body invites sectors from within Education and Learning Sectors and they are AE Providers, AE Tutors, AE Co-ordinators, Enrolling and Managing Schools, Pedagogical Teachers, RTLB, Activity Centers and Educational Psychologists to continue the conversation on the future planning for alternative education.

MoE will lead a "Conversation for Change".

The theme will continue as the previous day's conversation for participants to consider where alternative education sits today with Education Learning Support to plan how educational sectors can work together to meet educational, wellbeing and social needs of young people not engaged in their education beyond 2018.

Special Guests:

Hon. Tracey Martin:

Associate Minister of Education and holds the Learning Support portfolio

Professor Angus Hikairo MacFarlane:

Professor of Māori research at University of Canterbury (UC)

Further special guests to be announced.
